CAN'T MAKE ACTING CAPTAINS

CIVIL SERVICE BOARD CHECKS MR. M'ADOO'S PLANS.

He Will Have "Sergeants in Command." However, and Won't Pick Leading Ellgibles-Ten Captains Shifted-Exiles Back in Favor-O'Brten's Hopes.

Police Commissioner McAdoo received yesterday a letter from the Civil Service Commission telling him that he must not designate offices to fill positions higher than their rank as "acting." It was a violation of the law, they wrote, and if it was continued they would not pass the payrolls of the particular officers. Mr. that he would not go against the direction of the Civil Service Commission, but would in the future designate such officers as "sergeant in command," or "captain in command. The Commissioner said that in a day or two he would designate "sergeants in command" to the West 100th street, Central Park and West 152d street stations, which are now without captains. The Civil Service Commission has hinted to Mr. McAdoo that such selections should be made from men at the top of the eligible list. As a sergeant who was dismissed from the force and later reinstated by the courts heads the list, it is doubtful if the Police Commissioner will accede to the request.

It is believed that a change will scon be made in the Detective Bureau, Acting Inspector O'Brien, who is in charge, wants to be a full fledged inspector. It is known that he wants to go back to his old place as commander of the traffic squad, and it is thought that Mr. McAdoo will let him.

Mr. McAdoo shifted ten captains yesterday. The shake-up was more or less due to the fact that three stations, the Leonard street, West Forty-seventh street and West 100th street, were without commanders, owing to the recent promotion of the captains in charge of them to inspectorships. The other transfers were somewhat unexpected. These are the transfers:

Bernard Gallagher, from the Adams street etation, Brooklyn, to the West Forty-seventh

William Shaw, from the Madison street
station to the Adams street station, Brooklyn,
"Con" Hayes, from the West Thirty-seventh street station to the Madison street "Con" Hayes, from the West Thirty-seventh street station to the Madison street station. The Bronx, to the West Thirty-seventh street station. Robert Tighe, from the Borough Hall station. Brooklyn, to Alexander avenue station The Bronx.

Henry Halpin, West 152d street station to

Patrick Summers, from Greenpoint station

to Bath Beach.

Gallagher, who was on the eligible list for promotion to inspector, leaves the Adams street station, known as the Brooklyn Tenderloin, to take charge of the new Tenderloin in this borough. The place was made vacant by the promotion of Capt. Flood to an inspectorship.

Capt. Shaw has been long in the Madison street station. He has always been considered deserving of a better command. Both former Police Commissioner Greene and the present Commissioner had tried and the present Commissioner had tried to induce him to voluntarily accept a more strenuous post, but he begged off on account of illness in his family. Now he goes to the Brooklyn Tenderloin. His family lives in Brooklyn.

Hayes gets a black eye by his transfer.

He has been gradually going down in the importance of his commands since he was made a captain. He was first in command of the West Forty-seventh street station, the new Tenderloin. Then he changed places with Capt. Hussey, who was in command of the West Thirty-seventh street station—the little Tenderloin. His new command is not considered a very important. command is not considered a very important one.

Capt. Tighe was recently placed on trial charged with failing to close up certain resorts in his precinct. He was fined thirty days pay. His command in the Brooklyn Berough Hall was a quiet one. Now he has to some extent returned to grace by being sent to Alexander avenue in The Bronx. Ward, who leaves The Bronx to go to the West Thirty-seventh street station, gets a decided promotion.

Jim Dillon, who was in Central Park Jim Dillon, who was in Central Park when he was made a captain, was in command of the West Forty-seventh street station for a time. Now he has an important command in Kingsbridge, where there is frequent trouble with the laborers working there on big public improvements.

The Grand Central station, a small station house in the railroad station, has long been known in the policy department as the penitentiary. It was there Bill long been known in the police department as the penitentiary. It was there Bill Devery sent Jim Price when the captain, now retired, fell from Devery's favor. Inspector George McClusky was sent there when Devery decided he was too chesty. Now Capt. Byrne has served his time there. He has been sent to Leonard street, not a streauous but an important precinct on account of the business interests there.

Mr McAdoo said only a day or two ago that he was much dissatisfied with the existing conditions in Fort George. That is believed to be the reason for the transfer of Capt. Halpin from the West 152d street station to the Charles street station. Capt. O'Brien was for years a Brooklyn captain. Now he has gone back to his own in Brooklyn. Inspector Denis Sweeney, one of the captains recently promoted, took command of the Sixth district yesterday morning, with his headquarters at the West 1125th street station. When he arrived at his office he found the place filled with flowers sent by friends. The new inspector was kept busy receiving visitors and learning the routine of the office.

Police Commissioner McAdoo said vesterday that he had ordered a thorough investigation of the raid made Thursday night by Capt. Eggers on an alleged prizefight in the Pelican Athletic Club, Brooklyn, There is a rumor that many policemen were caught in the raid. Mr. McAdoo said that some might be placed on trial for being there.

Trouble for Policeman Hickey.

Policeman Hickey, who went to the Equitable Life Assurance Society offices several days ago and threatened to arrest the president and vice-president if he didn't get a satisfactory settlement on his endowment policy, is to be tried at Police Headquarters. Mr. McAdoo said yesterday that the charges were made because Hickey used his official place as a policeman to try to force a settlement of private affairs.

CAN SHIFT FRANCHISE POWER.

LEGISLATURE UPHELD IN TAK-ING IT FROM ALDERMEN.

Justice Blanchard Decides It's Constitutional to Give Control of Streets to Board of Estimate-Injunction Refused-The Case to Be Appealed. Supreme Court Justice Blanchard decided yesterday that the law passed at the recent session of the Legislature taking away from the Board of Aldermen the power to grant franchises, and investing that power in the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, is constitutional. The decision arises out of the application of Clermont H. Wilcox, a taxpayer, for an injunction restraining the Board of Estimate from taking any action on the communications now pending before it concerning applications for subway and other franchises. Justice Blanchard's decision reads in part:

"The vital question to be determined is this: Under the Constitution has the Board of Aldermen, as the legislative body of the city of New York, the exclusive right to the control of the streets of the city, and is the State Legislature prevented from changing such control? I do not think so. The Constitution nowhere commands or directs

"I find no authority for the proposition that the control of the streets of this city and the power to grant franchises to use them for street railway purposes must necessarily be given to the Board of Aldermen as the local legislative body. The terms of the constitution do not require this to be done, and, as the Legislature has the permanent control of the streets, there seems to be no reason why in its wisdom it should not delegate that control to any local board, administrative or legislative. local board, administrative or legislative, under such provisions of law as will permit it to be best exercised for the public wel-

KELLOGG CONVICTION UPHELD. Appellate Division Rules That Get-Rich-Quick Man Must Go To Jall.

James B. Kellogg of the E. S. Dean Company must serve out his sentence of seven years and six months at hard labor. The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court handed down yesterday a unanimous deision affirming his conviction on the charge of grand larceny.

Kellogg in 1896 conceived the idea of inducing the "Rubes," as he called his victims, to invest their savings in speculative wheat pools, from which they were to draw fortnightly dividends ranging from 30 to 120 per cent, per annum. His brain evolved the attractive literature that flooded the rural districts, and into his pockets went the attractive literature that flooded the rural districts, and into his pockets went the lion's share of the money received.

Like the Miller syndicate, the E. S. Dean Company paid its dividends out of its receipts, and by March, 1897, when the circulars were sent out announcing the information of "Special Wheat Combination of "Speci formation of "Special Wheat Combination No. 2," it was evident that a crash had to come. The E. S. Dean Company was organized in New Jersey with a nominal capital of $1,000.000, and Myron L. Bernard, brother-in-law of Kellogg, whose real name is Keller, was made president. Kellogg had no official connection with the company is warrely its organizar and pany; he was merely i's organizer and manager. Associated with him were Samuel Keller, Bernard and one Weiman. samuel heller, bernard and one Weiman.
In six months or less the corporation took in nearly $500,000, and the "Special No. 2" netted $150,000 within a few days. Of course no actual transactions in wheat were ever contemplated, but when matters reached a crisis Kellogg made a wash sale deal with a broker which showed on its that all the money invested had been lost at one swoop.

When the smoke had cleared away there was nothing left to levy on and Kellogg and his associates had vanished. The indictment charged Kellogg with the larceny of $37,830 on the "No. 2" pool. His trial was vigorously fought by Max D. Steuer, his counsel. Assistant District Attorney Sanford conducted the prosecuTHE SEAGOERS.

MAGISTRATE MEADE ATTACKED. Appellate Division Reserves Decision on

Mr. Jerome's Petition for His Removal. The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court reserved decision vesterday on the petition made by William Travers Jerome. as a citizen, for the removal of City Magistrate Clarence W. Meade. Mr. Jerome alleges that the Magistrate, who is suffering from paralysis, has been practically incapacitated physically from appearing in court or performing his magisterial functions. Assistant District Attorney Howard S. Gans appeared in behalf of the petitioner and urged that a person so seriously incapacitated as Mr. Meade should not be allowed to remain on the bench. not be allowed to remain on the bench.

Edward Lauterbach opposed the petition and declared that it was untrue that Mr. Meade was totally incapacitated. He occasionally, said Mr. Lauterbach, performs the minor functions of his office at his home. Equally untrue, said Mr. Lauterbach, was the charge that Mr. Meade was malingering. Mr. Lauterbach said that the Magistrate should be given a fair chance to recover. Charges were filed against Magistrates.

Charges were filed against Magistrates Meade and John O. Mott on June 22, 1903, with the Appellate Division by Charles with the Appellate Division by Charles P. Blaney, as attorney for a committee of the City Club. These charges sought the removal of the two Magistrates, alleging that for eight months previously they had been physically and mentally unable to attend to their duties. In July, 1903, the Appellate Division decided that the charges could not be entertained and dismissed them. Justice Pattertained and dismissed them. Justice Patterson wrote the opinion.

Magistrate Meade's alleged incapacity dates from a stroke of paralysis he suffered in the summer of 1902. He is a native of New York, and after holding several political offices was appointed Police Justice by Mayor Grant in 1890. In 1895 the Police Justices were all legislated out of office, but Meade was appointed a City Magistrate by Mayor Strong in 1897, and has continued in office since then. In the interim he ran for Congress in the old Tenth district.

He was born in 1841. He has been active in politics since he was 21 years old. In 1870 he was appointed United States As-sistant Appraiser. In 1880 Gov. Cornell appointed him Port Warden. He is said to have a larger acquaintance among men prominent in Republican politics than almost any man in the city

TO END MERCHANTS' TRUST CO.

APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVERS WILL BE MADE PERMANENT

Directors Fall to Raise the $300,000 Needed to Carry Out the Plan for Paying Depositors and They Will Ask

No Further Extension From Court. The plan to wind up the affairs of the Merchants' Trust Company without resort to a permanent receivership has collapsed completely. As announced after a meeting of the directors on Monday this plan contemplated payment of the depositors by the conversion of $500,000 of New York city bonds into cash, the sale of the Hudson Valley Railway properties to the Colvin-Herbert syndicate for $850,000 and the advance of $300,000 by certain of the directors. The directors have held meetings every day since Monday, but it has been found impossible to raise the $300,000. In court at Hudson on Saturday last, on motion of John D. Lindsay, attorney for Munn, Justice Cochrane granted the directors a week in which to perfect arrangements for paying the depositors.

None of the directors will ask to-day an ex-will be recommended for appointment as permanent receivers. It is believed that there will be no opposition. The temporary receivers have done nothing to express approval of the proposed sale of the Hudson Valley properties to the Colvin-Herbert syndicate. probable that the matter will be presented to the court to-day.

"Altogether," said one of the directors yesterday, "settlement of the affairs of the company has made little progress since the suspension. The directors have been endeavoring to devise a means for paying off the depositors and on one or two occasions, particularly last Monday, it appeared as if they would be successful. The failure of the plan to raise $300.000 among the directors leaves us with nothing to do except. directors leaves us with nothing to do except. to consent to the appointment of receivers and let them wind up the affairs of the com-pany as best they can."

U. S. BUYS FOREIGN EXCHANGE To Meet Money Orders Sent By Immigrants to the Folks at Home.

At the Clearing House yesterday there was a debit balance of $1,789,220 against the United States Sub-Treasury. At the Sub-Treasury it was explained south on Fifth avenue last night, began to that this remarkably large balance was caused by checks aggregating more than $1,000,000 which had been drawn in payment for foreign bills of exchange. Twice a year the Government goes into the foreign exchange market to procure foreign bills with which to pay foreign money or-ders. On account of orders sent abroad by immigrants many more are purchased here than are sent into the country from Despite the heavy purchases of foreign bills by the Government the rate for foreign exchange was but slightly higher yesterday.

Our success depends entirely on the success of our customers. Our credit convenience has helped many over financial
